he charge of five Household Cavalry horses through central London, along with Big Ben erratically striking 11 at 10am, has been interpreted as a serious warning from God.

Five highly trained horses stampeded through London, injuring three of their riders and smashing into a bus and taxi, and in doing so caught the nation's – and the world's – attention. It was headline news and was even reported in Australia.

Particularly dramatic was the bloodstained white horse as it galloped along behind a black horse. Even non-Christians likened the sight to the 'four horses of the Apocalypse'.

On the same morning, 24 April, Big Ben, which has been extensively overhauled, stopped, then at 10am struck not ten but 11 times.

One pastor who has prophesied before about Britain's spiritual state believes that Big Ben striking 11 symbolises that Britain is in the 11th hour before judgement, while horses causing "total mayhem" in Britain's capital city are a symbol of what is to come.

This warning came in a prophetic message released by Pastor Chris Wickland of Living Word Church Network, Fareham, Hampshire, in which God pleads to the British Church to pray and repent.

Britain has less than one year before iudgements fall

"The horses represent war, famine, plague and pestilence. These things will cause mayhem to your nation.

Britain, God says, now has less than one year before the judgements fall. There is a warning to the Church (after many over the years), that it has not been listening to God.

This prophetic message has been endorsed by other ministers, including Prophecy Today, the online magazine founded by Clifford Hill, which Clifford Hill, featured the message immediately after the horses' rampage.

'The writing is on the wall': this famous Bible phrase comes from King Belshazzar's feast (Daniel 5:25-28). When a hand appeared and wrote on the wall, it made the last king of the neo-Babylonian empire's knees knock. Only the prophet Daniel could interpret the Aramaic script of "Mene, mene, tekel, parsin" correctly. The Bible tells us that Belshazzar died that night and a Median king succeeded him.

'THE SIGNS OF THE TIMES'

25 April, 2024

This is a condensed version of the prophetic message:

My Church, who has bewitched you? Can you not see the writing on the wall? Can you not read the signs of the times?... How did you fall and become like Laodocia?..

Surely you know that a red sky at night means a good day to follow? It seems you cannot even read the natural signs any more?...

You've become politicised

I am speaking to you, my Church, all over the world. I'm putting signs in the heavens and upon the Earth - yet you are not seeing them. You laugh and scoff at the very signs I give to you..

The writing is on the wall, Church, but you're not paying attention to it. Why do you not want to hear my voice any more? Why do you filter and pasteurise my prophetic word to you? Why do you edit, cut and filter it?

You are living in very dark days and you are oblivious to what's going on around you. You are supposed to be the Church – the light in the darkness – the solution to the problem. Instead - you've become the problem. You have embraced darkness and you've become politicised instead of representing my Kingdom. You look at the world through worldly, darkened eyes. You've embraced the folly of the world and see it as truth.

You see the signs and blame it on the environment. Are you utterly blind? Are you completely without sense and intelligence? What is wrong with you, my people? .. Come out of her; for if you do not, you will be taken up in the judgments that I'm about to bring upon Babylon in this hour...

You are in grave danger and will be swept away with the world if you do not separate yourself from her, and her doctrines, and her teachings. You've taken my gospel and mixed it with the new traditions of man and have denied my power thereof.

You have bowed the knee to Baal. You have bowed the knee to the kingdom of Babylon. You have become worse than Laodicea. You have become so worldly, and carnal, you're no heavenly and spiritual use to me. You are so close to the end of days that you need to wake up..

I will give you many signs and wonders that will be put on your mainstream media

The wickedness upon the Earth is now so great and my people are so asleep. At the time when my Church should be praying, and on her knees begging for my mercy to fall on your nations - you're too busy snoring and entertaining yourselves.

In Britain, Big Ben stopped. The clock of the nation froze – and at the hour of 10, the tolls of the bell rang 11 times. This is a sign to you, Britain. You think you're in the 10th hour. You feel you have much time left, however, the reality is that it is in fact the 11th hour – not the 10th. I cannot stress the urgency to you, my people. Horses ran wild causing total mayhem in your capital city. This is a symbol of what is to come.

The horses represent war, famine, plague and pestilence. These things will cause mayhem to your nation. Church, I have warned you [repeatedly], but you have not listened. You are busy about your own affairs building your own houses and panels of cedar, whilst my house lies in ruins and disrepair.

This nation has now less than one year. I will give you many signs and wonders that will be put on your hristians in Penryn are addressing the frustration many people are experiencing as a result of the long waiting times and treatment delays within the NHS. They are holding monthly Healing Clinics in Penryn Town Hall.

Healing Clinic – an alternative way to health

When Jesus walked on earth He healed all who came to Him, it is the heart of God to heal today. Volunteers are freely reaching out with the love of God through healing prayer for a variety of sicknesses, aches and pains.

Recently a lady received prayer to be healed of blood cancer. A subsequent bone marrow investigation revealed that she was free of cancer.

Passers by coming in off the street seeking prayer are surprised by the level of attention and care they receive. One such lady, who was visiting from Uganda, saw the sign on the street, came in and was joyously healed of long term back pain.

Others have travelled from out of the county and received healing and freedom from spiritual encumbrances.

There is no limit to what Father God can do for all who are ill and oppressed by the devil.

The Prayer Clinic in Penryn is open on the first Saturday of each month between 10.30 and 13.00. No appointment is required, and the prayer is free as it is in any Christian church.

The Healing Clinic can be contacted through Stirring of the water Ministries in Penryn.

mainstream media. You will see lots of strange events that seem random, and peculiarly odd, that will be reported on the news. There will be signs in the heavens and signs on the earth.

Why am I going to do this? Because you've not listened to those whom I sent or the whisperings of my Holy Spirit. It seems many of you can only see through the lens of the media this is what I will use to perplex you, and unsettle you, and maybe it will be enough to wake some of you up....

Watch the prophetic clock. You are so close to the end of days, you need to wake up. Time is running down... Do not be swept away with the judgements that are to come. You're supposed to be of a Kingdom that cannot be shaken - but if you do not awaken you will be taken in the judgements with this nation.

Finally, I am testing your hearts I am sifting you right now.

Watch Israel closely. She is a sign to the nations, a rock of offence to many. She is the chief prophetic cornerstone which my Church has rejected. Why have you rejected her when I have not? Many are being held in the scales and many are found to be greatly wanting in my Church.

If you do not awaken you will be taken in the judgements with this nation

Mene, mene, tekel, parsin; these God has words mean: Mene numbered the days of your reign and put an end to it. Tekel - you have been weighed on the scales and found wanting. Parsin - your kingdom has been divided and given to the Medes and Persians.

While the horses were running through the city, the mighty fingers of Big Ben (known as the great clock of Westminster) froze for over an hour at 9am. This was after two years of restoration work.

The bells also malfunctioned, sounding the 11th hour at 10.06am.

Was this a spiritual response from 22 February when pro-Palestinian activists projected the antisemitic words, "From the river to the sea" on to Big Ben's tower?

A group convened by Sue Sinclair of Community Watchmen Ministries (CWM) in Mersey that prayed immediately on 24 April thought it was indeed significant that a sign of judgement was shown on the world's most famous clock.

They also recalled a message from a prophet, Charlie Shamp, in 2017, who said: "Keep your eyes upon Big Ben; something supernatural is about to be seen... I heard the Lord say, 'My eye is upon this land and my hand upon the nation's time, a 'kairos' moment is about to come!

'I will cause a sign to come from Big Ben that will mark the moment that I have changed the time and season for the nation of England and the city of London. Everything will stop and people will turn to see and hear. Tell my people to mark the moment when it comes to pass, for it will be sign of great change in the land'.'

Advance notice

CWM also felt that God was giving his Church an advance opportunity to pray. Sue Sinclair wrote: "We believe this is a wake-up call! It's important not to be afraid but to mobilise the Church to pray that maybe God will have mercy and turn the battle at the gates of our nation CWM noticed that the horses tore past key seats of power in the capital:

- Chancery Lane = Law
- Belgrave Square = Embassies • Fleet Street = Media
- Buckingham Palace Road = Royal

family and transport hubs

Maybe God will have mercy and turn the battle at the gates of our nation

The CWM team also noted the significance of the horses' names: the black horse was Quaker, a denominational name born from people shaking under God's power, which inspired a zeal for social reform and justice. The white horse which was covered in blood from colliding with a bus, was Vida, meaning 'life' in Spanish.

CWM believe there will be a shaking and overturning of false powers and control in the law, government and diplomatic services, the media and communications and in transport.

They are encouraging strategic praying.

They suggest that people first of all repent and forgive:

Repent where we have neglected and rejected people, causing great pain and chaos

Repent where we have not worked together

Forgive anyone who has caused us pain or offence

Then to pray for:

Real loving unity in the Church Muslims in this nation to be saved Wisdom for the Government and the armed forces because we're in an era where potentially we could go to war

WELCOME TO THE CALIPHATE UTOPIA

Lies about 'genocide' have led to skilfully backed student protests across US campuses. Jewish students have not felt safe. Pastor Chris Wickland, whose '2024 roadmap' message (HEART April/May 2024) warned of an Islamic uprising, says this is evidence of what is to come if there is no repentance he mainstream media will not show you this, but America is in trouble.

US campuses are erupting with Jew hatred, antisemitic ranting, calling for intifada and the dismantling of the Jewish state.

People often think the whole Middle East crisis is all the fault of the Jewish people. But it needs to be noted that Israel has offered a two state solution five times. It has been rejected every time. Why? Because the surrounding nations do not want peace with Israel. They want them annihilated from the face of the earth.

Israel is protecting the western world from dictatorial regimes that want Jews, Christians and all western democracy to be destroyed and replaced with a caliphate.

These young people are our future politicians and leaders

These students are mostly hard left liberals. This is the new Marxism and these young people are our future politicians and leaders. Is this what you want for your future?

We rejected Christianity as a nation both here and in the US. We took Jesus and prayer out of the class room and we

Students across US campuses and now in Britain have protested over the Israel-Hamas war actively encouraged atheism.

However, nature abhors a vacuum, so something else needs to fill that void. Welcome to your new caliphate utopia.

An Islamic revolution and uprising are coming. If the Church doesn't get it and start praying, then our nation and the US, are in dangerous, big trouble.

Why am I sounding like Dr Doom? Because this is on our doorstop and no one seems to care or even be remotely worried.

This will not just blow over. What we see here is just the beginning and it will keep growing unless we humble ourselves and pray.

NATIONAL NEWS BY ANDREW HALLOWAY

Contradictory rulings on abortion have been proposed as amendments to the Criminal Justice Bill, due to be debated on or after 3 June (as we went to press).

Caroline Ansell MP's amendment would lower the abortion time limit from 24 weeks to 22 weeks; another, by Liam Fox MP, aims to stop Down's babies being aborted right up to birth by aligning the abortion time limit for Down's Syndrome with the standard abortion limit.

Another pro-life amendment by Flick Drummond MP would ensure women have an in-person consultation with a medical professional before taking abortion pills at home.

The amendment has been signed by a cross-party group of 46 MPs including former Deputy PMs Thérèse Coffey and Damian Green, former Cabinet minister Sir Jacob Rees-Mogg, former leader of the Conservative Party and cabinet minister Sir Iain Duncan Smith, former Lib Dem leader Tim Farron, and Labour MP Rachael Maskell.

On the other hand, MPs Stella Creasy and Diana Johnson propose two radically liberalising pro-abortion amendments. One would allow abortion up to birth for any reason and the other that abortion should be available on demand, for any reason, up to 24 weeks.

According to Right to Life, legalising abortion up to birth may lead to women performing late-term abortions at home – endangering the lives of many more women, and would cause the loss of many more healthy and viable babies. One of the pro-abortion amendments would even result in sex-selective abortion being legal in England and Wales.

Right to Life also say that infanticide would be easier to cover up, because "Stella Creasy's amendment would remove key deterrents against hiding the body of a dead baby, which are included in Section 60 of the Offences Against the Person Act 1861."

While traumatic birth experiences have featured in the news recently, the EA's head of policy, Alicia Edmund, says that opting for more abortions "recklessly ignores the current failings of UK maternity care....The priority should be radical reform so that both mother and her unborn child receive the best support."

SCREAMING PRO-ABORTION MOB THREATEN YOUNG PRO-LIFE SPEAKER

Police were forced to provide physical protection for a pro-life speaker at the University of Manchester when a mob of pro-abortion protesters tried to shut down her talk.

Madeline Page, CEO of the Alliance of Pro-life Students (APS), delivered a talk titled 'Grill the pro-lifer', but only after police led her through the screaming crowd to get into the venue.

Afterwards, she had to stay in a different location because it was not safe to go to her accommodation, and the next day she was accosted by a proabortion student who shouted at her outside a university building.

"I was swarmed by students hurling vile abuse"

Madeline told Right to Life UK: "There had been a concerted hate campaign about me before I had even arrived at the university... The talk was scheduled for 7pm but the university had organised for the building to be cleared and staff advised to vacate the building two hours beforehand for their safety.

"By the time I arrived, there was already a group of protesters shouting and chanting."

As soon as they saw Madeline, they swore at her with vile language. The police had to force the protestors to let her inside the building. Madeline adds: "When we left the Madeline adds: "When we left the event... I was separated from the rest of the group and swarmed by students hurling verbal abuse. The police had to form a physical barrier between the mob and me for my protection." This occasion on 12 April was the second time this year that Manchester pro-life students have faced physical intimidation for speaking about their beliefs.

The government passed the Higher Education (Freedom of Speech) Act in 2023 to alleviate censorship on campuses after a string of student bodies at universities including Aberdeen, Glasgow, Nottingham and Strathclyde all tried to prevent student pro-life groups from being affiliated with their university.

39,000 WOMEN NEED HOSPITAL REATMENT AFTER DIV ABORTIONS

The number of failed or incomplete home abortions has been conservatively calculated at 39,000 over five years.

Lifenews.com reports that in just England and Wales, at least 39,000 women have been treated at NHS hospitals for complications arising from failed or incomplete DIY medical abortions at home, and every day 30 women suffer health risks from DIY abortion.

In December 2018, the Government allowed women to self-administer the second part of a medical abortion, misoprostol, at home. In March 2020, due to Covid-19 lockdowns, the Secretary of State extended this to include both stages of abortion, using mifepristone and misoprostol.

Life News adds: "This sharp increase continued throughout the second half of 2022, and into 2023" and "written evidence to Parliament... reported a 32 per cent increase in the first period of 2023...

"The independent abortion providers, BPAS, MSI-RC et al, are celebrating this new way of doing abortion (telemedicine and pills-by-post) as a leap forward in women's healthcare, but in practice they are abandoning women" who are "left to manage their abortion alone at home and when it goes wrong, as it does for one in 17".

TOP EVANGELIST LEAVES CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Nationally-known evangelist Rico Tice has resigned from the Church of England due to its increasing acceptance of same-sex relationships.

Tice says he had to "demonstrate some clear separation from a Church that no longer affirms biblical orthodoxy". Back in 2018, he quit the Archbishop of Canterbury and York's task group on evangelism because others on the committee were supportive of same-sex relationships.

Tice, who co-wrote the Christianity Explored seekers' course and was a long-time minister at All Souls Langham Place in London, now attends the International Presbyterian Church in Ealing.

"A Church that no longer affirms biblical orthodoxy"

He told Evangelicals Now that the tipping point was the Anglican Church's new Prayers of Love and Faith. He said he wrote to "Justin Welby and all the bishops" about "the Church's onward trajectory toward affirming same-sex marriage" but "received no substantive response from him, and that was a key moment in my decision to leave.'

PRIEST BACKS PRIMARY SCHOOL 'GAY CHAMPIONS'

An Episcopalian rector is supporting Scottish primary schools in encouraging children to promote homosexuality and transgenderism, according to Christian Voice

Children as young as four are being recruited to act as 'LGBT Champions by taxpayer-supported LGBT Youth Scotland, one of whose trustees is the Reverend Canon Dean Fostekew. Rector of the Episcopalian Church of the Good Shepherd in Murrayfield, Edinburgh.

The Telegraph claims that LGBT Youth Scotland is asking those schools that have signed up to its tenets to form 'gender and sexual orientation alliance groups' among pupils, install gender neutral toilets and mark a Transgender Day of Remembrance that promotes transgender propaganda - all without the knowledge or consent of parents.

A four-year strategy to indoctrinate young people

LGBTQ Youth Scotland has a fouryear strategy to indoctrinate young people in Scotland and, according to CitizenGo, the group is linked to scandals of 'child grooming' and 'sexual exploitation'.

CitizenGo says: "Pupils are being asked if they are 'gay,' 'lesbian' or 'trans' and children as young as four are being appointed 'LGBT champions'... This isn't education; it's indoctrination." They added: "Schools are meant to educate and protect children, instead, they are making them more vulnerable to abuse, sexualising them, and exposing them to harmful ideologies."

This is continuing even though the ground-breaking Dame Hilary Cass Review has warned of the dangers 'social transition' and advised of against puberty blockers and cross-sex hormones for children.

NEW SCOTS LEADER "DOES GOD"

Scotland's new First Minister, John Swinney, is unashamed to be called a Christian, according to a report on BBC Radio 4's 'Sunday' programme, which recalled spin doctor Alistair Campbell's famous statement: "We don't do God"

John Swinney, Scotland's new First Minister

Christian politicians such as former Lib Dem leader Tim Farron and even, more recently, Swinney's collleague, MSP Kate Forbes, have been hounded for their biblical beliefs.

Swinney, a Church of Scotland member, had his first marriage annulled in order to marry BBC journalist Elizabeth Quigley in the Roman Catholic Church in 2003.

He has, however, said that he continues to support the principle of people being allowed to self-identify their legal gender with no medical diagnosis of gender dysphoria.

His predecessor, Humza Yousaf, began his reign with Muslim prayers in Bute House, the first minister's official residence.

LIB DEMS ACCUSED OF DESELECTING CANDIDATE FOR HIS CHRISTIAN FAI

A Lib Dem prospective candidate is being deselected from his prospective Surrey seat for his Christian beliefs, according to a complaint he has made to the Equality and Human Rights Commission (EHRC).

David Campanale, 60, is set to be replaced as the party's prospective MP candidate for Sutton and Cheam after a two-year campaign against him by members of his local party and a number of LGBT activists.

The Anglican and award-winning former BBC journalist has faced opposition after being linked with the Christian People's Alliance (CPA) political party, which has campaigned against abortion and gay marriage. Opponents of his candidacy also claim he didn't sufficiently declare his faith during the selection process.

Other Lib Dems claim his faith was not the issue, as other Lib Dem MPs are practising Christians, including party leader Sir Ed Davey.

Since we first reported it, Joshua Sutcliffe's appeal, at the High Court in London, is the first case to come to court after the Cass Review exposed the fallacies of transgender ideology and discouraged the gender transitioning of children, and after the government published its draft transgender guidance for schools.

New guidance vindicates him

The guidance vindicates new Sutcliffe, saying that teachers should not be forced, against their conscience, to address a pupil with preferred pronouns that contradict their biological sex.

Joshua's case, which is supported by the Christian Legal Centre, is a litmus test for other teachers who have lost their jobs for similar reasons.

By Pastor John of Strengthen the Faithful hen King George VI called for a National Day of Prayer for 26 May, it was because there was no military solution to the Dunkirk crisis.

With 350,000 Allied troops trapped on French shores by the advancing German army, Britain was on the verge of total defeat and panic was beginning to set in.

Successive governments in both Britain and Europe had ignored all the warning signs of an impending war in the 1930s; indeed, many people argued that such a war would never happen, because there were now cast iron alliances between nations and common sense would prevail.

Britain was on the verge of total defeat and panic was beginning to set in

There was an almost hypnotic denial of these warning signs. Those like Churchill who repeatedly warned of a coming storm were mocked and ignored.

In 1936 Churchill and his friends embarked on a strenuous campaign to awaken Britain to the danger ahead. In one newspaper article which was published in 14 countries, he wrote "The peoples of Britain and Europe are chattering, busy, sporting, and toiling, amused from day to day by headlines and from night to night by cinemas.... Stop it now. It is worth supreme effort to control the hideous drift of events which we are witnessing". But few listened.

Instead, the majority of people simply continued to plan their careers, build up their businesses, and arrange their next holiday, pretty much oblivious to the coming storm. Now the Nazis were able to sweep all before them and Britain was next. There was no human help. As we know however, there was divine help.

"The peoples of Britain and Europe are chattering, busy, sporting, and toiling, amused from day to day by headlines and from night to night by cinemas....Stop it now. It is worth supreme effort to control the hideous drift of events which we are witnessing"

Winston Churchill, 1936

As Britain commemorates the 80th anniversary of D Day on 6 June, let's not forget that there would have been no D Day without God's deliverance at Dunkirk four years earlier. Shamefully, today neither Church nor nation gives much thought to this miracle resulting from our first WW2 National Day of Prayer, but it serves as both a warning and encouragement today

In a national broadcast the King called for the people of the UK to turn back to Almighty God in a spirit of repentance and plead for divine Intervention. Literally millions of people across the British Isles responded to his call and flocked into churches humbly praying for deliverance.

Many who read this article will have seen the iconic photograph of the queue of people a quarter of a mile long outside Westminster Abbey. People were terrified and yet they knew instinctively that God could help.

Two events immediately followed this National Prayer Day. First a violent storm arose over the Dunkirk region, grounding the Luftwaffe which had been killing thousands on the beaches.

Then a great calm descended on the Channel, the like of which hadn't been seen for a generation. This allowed hundreds of tiny boats to sail across and rescue 335,000 soldiers, rather than the estimated 20-30,000.

God's response to the National Day of Prayer was so clear and dramatic, that people referred to it as "the miracle of Dunkirk" and Sunday 9 June was officially appointed as a Day of National Thanksgiving.

In the film 'Dunkirk', reference is only made to the "little boats" and, shamefully, it fails to admit that without the miraculous Channel calm coming precisely when it did, those little craft wouldn't have been able to sail. God's intervention in answer to prayer is totally ignored in the film just as it is today by many churches and politicians.

Those like Churchill who repeatedly warned of a coming storm were mocked and ignored

In all, seven National Days of Prayer were held at crisis points throughout the war and after each one, God responded with his blessing and protection.

The Bishop of Chelmsford, Dr H A Wilson wrote, "If ever a great nation was on the point of supreme and final disaster, and yet was saved and reinstated it was ourselves...it does not require an exceptionally religious mind to detect in all this the hand of God."

Now fast forward to 2024 and 'Broken Britain'. We are in chaos socially, morally, politically, economically and spiritually. Many people are frightened, not just by world events but by what they see happening in our own society.

Today's generation thinks that the teaching of the Bible, Christianity and churchgoing are irrelevant. The Lord who delivered the nation from invasion has now been driven out of our culture, out of our government, out of the education of our children and literally hundreds of churches have closed down. The result has not been peace and harmony, but turmoil and discontentm*ent*.

To reverse our national decline and the disintegration of our society, Britain needs to return to obeying the laws of Almighty God, the God of the Bible, who delivered us from invasion in the past. This would allow him to bless, protect and prosper us, as he did so before.

This is in line with a well-known prophecy given by Bible teacher Lance Lambert in 1986, in which God spoke of his undying love for his "kith and kin".

Quoting Romans 9-11, he reminded the Church that Israel's hardening of heart was in order to bring salvation to the gentiles, but he had not given up his people.

"Yet I have surrendered them to sorrow, to anguish of heart and to continuous suffering. But I have never given them up. In all their afflictions I was afflicted, though I neither delivered nor saved them from death.

"Nevertheless I have been present; I the King of Israel, I have been present, although unnoticed and unregarded, in all their sufferings. There was no gas chamber, no massacre in which I was not present.

bible-believing Christians have long 'watched out' for Israel in prayer, and on the night of 13-14 April Christians worldwide stayed up late praying as Iran launched its 'revenge' for the alleged Israeli assassination of the Iranian general who planned the 7 October massacres.

It was hailed as a miracle of God's protection from the mullahs' onslaught of 350 missiles (30-50 cruise, 110-120 balltistic) and kamikaze drones, and around 40 missiles from Lebanon, as well as from Iraq and Houthi-controlled Yemen. An estimated 95-99% of the missiles were intercepted, firstly by Israel's air force, along with the US, UK, and French forces, aided by intelligence data supplied by Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, before they reached Israel, then by the IDF's multilayer missile defence systems. be seen as the hand of God. However, Dr Yigal Carmon, Founder and President of the highly respected Middle East Media Research Institute (MEMRI) claimed that the attack was actually carefully co-ordinated by the US over Israel's head:

It was hailed as a miracle of God's protection from the mullahs' onslaught

"America co-ordinated the attack with Iran so that no one would be physically injured or killed. This was thanks to the highly skilled American, Israeli, British, and Jordanian air defences. This coordination with Iran that guarantees no casualties, no injuries, was made over Israel's head."

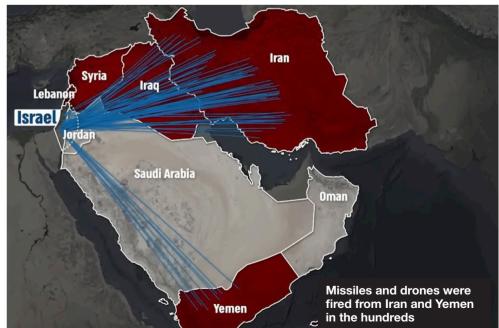

"Israel's Air Force, like those of the USA, UK, and Jordan, did a great job. They had full information about the missiles that were coming. Israel got the information from the Americans, who got the information about the "what, where, and when" of the air strikes from the Iranians, enabling an unfathomable 99% missile defence rate."

Carmon warns that Israel's deterrence was "struck down" by the US's preco-ordination with Iran. "The worst for Israel would be to believe that the results of this night are all that Iran can achieve. They can do far more." And Daniel Greenfield, a Shillman

Journalism Fellow, agreed:

"This was the 'attack' prearranged for show between Iran and the Biden administration through backchannels. It's Hezbollah, Houthi, Iraqi and whatever is left of its Hamas proxies to saturate local air defences."

Greenfield points out that the 7 October attack was planned by the Iranian Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps general who was killed in an alleged Israeli strike in Damascus on 1 an attack that allows Iran to show off that it can reach Israel... while not inflicting any real damage. Iran did burn up some resources doing this, but apart from the morale boost of doing it, it set out to test USA and Israeli defences. And the defences did what they were supposed to... had Iran actually been trying to launch a serious attack, it would have used its April. He had carefully analysed Israel's border and air defences and exploited its weaknesses.

Thus a picture of double dealing emerges, with the US playing a dubious role. Greenfield alleges that "Iran will do things beyond this light show, which

PRO-LIFERS TO BE ALLOWED ACCESS TO ABORTION CLINICS

PM wants women informed about keeping their babies

Pregnancy centres in Italy are supposed to offer both abortion and advice on other options. Now Prime Minister Georgia Meloni wants to open up these centres to pro-life organisations.

Currently, if a woman wants an abortion she has to obtain permission from an expert at a pregnancy centre, and the centres are already obliged to provide women with pro-life information, but pro-life counsellors aren't present in the centres.

Meloni's proposal may seem like a big change, but all it will do is ensure that Italy's 1978 abortion law is better enacted. Under that law, centres are already allowed to use "volunteer associations protecting motherhood to help women avoid terminating their pregnancies because of economic, social or family hardships" and that "women should get all necessary help to avoid an abortion".

In practice, how much of this takes place is largely dependent on the abortion experts at the centres, so allowing pro-lifers access will create a more even playing field between pro-life options and abortion.

Back in 2022 Meloni stated she wanted to ensure that women are informed about alternatives to abortion.

AUSTRALIA CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS TARGETED BY ACTIVISTS

Parliamentarians and LGBT+ campaigners are seeking to prevent faith schools from employing staff who hold traditional biblical beliefs, and to remove the schools' right to hire and fire on the basis of sexual practices.

According to Christianity magazine, this is part of a concerted effort to prevent children from being inculcated with Christian values and instead to impose progressive secular teachings. Over one third of Australian parents choose independent schools, mainly Christian ones

Over one third of Australian parents choose independent schools, mainly Christian schools, rather than state institutions, because they provide a higher quality of education, better discipline and better pastoral care.

Yet some human rights activists, LGBT groups and politicians accuse Christian schools of discriminating against the LGBT community, even though the schools are open to all children and don't expel on the basis of sexual orientation. And although Christian beliefs and morality are taught, they are never imposed.

islation being curtailed. After Geert Wilders' Freedom Party (PVV) won the largest number of seats last autumn, a gender transition bill has been halted, as have proposals for abortion pills by post and the acceptance of multi-parent families.

The gender transition bill would have lowered the legal age for gender change and allowed people to change their gender without the permission of an expert. After the election, a slight majority voted in favour of removing the proposal.

The abortion pills proposal would have made it easier for Dutch doctors to send abortion pills abroad, so that women in countries with strict abortion laws could get round the laws of their country, but it does not now have enough support. The current cabinet also wants to allow a child to have up to four parents, but the shift to the right in Parliament makes it unlikely this will progress into legislation. Wilders, who is anti-Muslim immigration into Europe, is also a supporter of Israel's right

Catholic bishops in the Philippines are tackling a severe heatwave and drought with prayer.

Thousands of schools were closed in late April and early May due to the heat and persistent drought which has devastated farming.

Then on 4 May, bishops ordered parishes to recite a special prayer, which reads: "We humbly ask you to grant us relief from the extreme heat that besets your people at this time, disrupting their activities and threatening their lives and livelihood... Send us rain to replenish our depleting water sources, to irrigate our fields, to stave off water and power shortages and to provide water for our daily needs."

World authority on transgenderism discredited

Doctors downplayed side effects of sex-change ops and puberty blockers

The World Professional Association for Transgender Health (WPATH) is knowingly promoting dangerous transgender procedures, according to Christian Network Europe (CNE).

Network Europe (CNE). CNE reports that WPATH documents leaked by a US whistleblower reveal "pseudoscientific experiments in children, teenagers and vulnerable adults". WPATH sets the international guidelines for transgender care, yet the documents allegedly show that the organisation is promoting risky and unproven treatments to vulnerable people. Shockingly, the documents reportedly reveal that WPATH doctors acknowledge a link between transgender hormone therapy and cancer, and have downplayed the severe potential side effects of puberty blockers and transgender surgery. WPATH members even admit that children cannot comprehend the lifelong impact of "gender-affirming care".

Investigative journalist Michael Shellenberger says: "The leaked documents show that what is called gender care is neither science nor medicine."

11 PASTORS IMPRISONED AFTER 'SHAM TRIAL'

A group of pastors and ministry leaders has been convicted on false charges and sentenced to between 12 and 15 years in prison, and each fined over 80 million dollars.

The 11 Christian leaders worked with Puerta de la Montaña, the Nicaraguan branch of a US-based Christian mission. The government has revoked the organisation's registration as a ministry and seized its property and assets.

The Christian leaders include a woman who has given birth in prison

The pastors have been in custody since the beginning of the year after being accused of money laundering, and have been given no access to family or lawyers. At their trial in March, the government failed to produce any evidence of wrongdoing.

The Christian leaders include

a woman who has given birth in prison and who has reportedly received inadequate medical care.

The Inter-American Commission on Human Rights has called on Nicaragua to protect their health and welfare, after being petitioned by religious liberty campaigners ADF International. An ADF International letter calling for the release of the pastors has been signed by 58 members of the US Congress and delivered to Nicaragua's ambassador.

Several senators have also requested that the US government impose sanctions on the Central American nation for its human rights abuses.

ADF International is supporting the pastors' legal team.

THE SENSORY HEALTHY CHURCH

THE MIDDLE EAST CONFLICT ISN'T ABOUT LAND - IT'S ABOUT RELIGION

The world at large – including the Church – is for the most part ignorant of the real aims of 'jihad'. Only a supernatural change of heart will remove the striving for world domination

By Charles Gardner

he Middle East conflict is not about land or nationality. It's theological

Some of us know this, but the world at large - including the Church - is for the most part ignorant of this truth.

It's so encouraging, therefore, to hear IDF Sgt-Major Chaim Malespin make this clear in his daily five-minute You-Tube report from the frontline, 'Swords of Iron'

Defending his country in Gaza, away from his usual role in charge of the Aliyah Return Centre in Galilee that takes care of new immigrants, Chaim alerts listeners to the 'double talk' of radical groups like Hamas.

The terrorists are aware of the West's susceptibility to calls for freedom for the supposedly oppressed Palestinians, but their message in Arabic is totally different, emphasising jihad (holy war). The aim of jihad is to bring the entire world under Islam through "first defeating the Saturday people, then the Sunday people" only ever temporary, allowing their forces to regroup. "For too long, Israel and the West have tried to overlook this aspect," Chaim said.

Instead, he urges viewers to pray for Muslims to see that Isa (Jesus), the true Messiah, is the only one capable of bringing real peace.

"The only way to help Gazans and radical groups is for them to have a change of heart and mind. Let's pray these Muslims receive the lasting peace that only the God of Israel can offer.

With Iran now openly entering the fray, it's becoming ever clearer that we are living in apocalyptic times. But as the song goes, Jesus is the answer for the world today; Above him there's no other, Jesus is the way'.

The Book of Revelation at the end of the Bible speaks of the last days before

Jesus returns as a world in greater turmoil than ever

Besides, Jerusalem is the most fought over place on earth - the battlefield of over 100 conflicts to date. Why? Because it is the centre of God's purposes and the city to which the Messiah will return.

In the UK, meanwhile, antisemitism has sky-rocketed in the wake of the Gaza war as weekly pro-Palestinian marches in London have fanned the flames of Jewish hatred. A staggering 60% of the UK's four million Muslims now admit sympathy with Hamas.

From South Africa, I heard of the seemingly miraculous way a volatile and potentially divisive situation in a Cape Town church was defused when a mother and daughter challenged a pastor over plans to host a Palestinian group promoting anti-Israel propagan-da. Shouldn't he also host a speaker presenting the Israeli perspective?

He eventually agreed to a Passover presentation on Good Friday led by the Church's Ministry among Jewish peo-ple (CMJ), demonstrating how Jesus is the ultimate fulfilment of Passover – the Lamb of God slain for the sins of the world who opens the door to peace and freedom.

With 220 attending, it was a roaring success. My Cape Town contact told me: "At the beginning of the evening, I shared my testimony, including how my family perceived not only the New Testament but Yeshua himself to be antisemitic, and how very foreign Jesus seemed to me in the way he was por-trayed by the Church. We didn't mention the Israel-Gaza situation, but instead focused on the Passover and the Jewishness of the Last Supper, as well as the Jewishness of Jesus himself.

"At the end of our presentation, we were bowled over when the pastor encouraged the church to support CMJ and showed a slide advertising a proposed tour of Israel. And many people told us it had been an amazing experience.

The blood of a lamb daubed on the doors of their houses saved the Jewish first-born from death and set the nation free from slavery in Egypt.

Now the blood of Jesus, metaphorically marked on the doors of our hearts, is the way to peace and freedom, resurrection, and reconciliation.

Even the world's top golfer, Scottie Scheffler, who in April won his second US Masters in three years, said "Victory was secured on the Cross", explaining that whether he wins or loses tournaments, his future is safe with Jesus.

JESUS – THE ANSWER TO MUSLIM DREAMS

Muslims are coming to faith in Christ through dreams at levels not seen for over 1,000 years, according to US missionaries.

James Bradford, lead pastor at Central Assembly in Springfield, Missouri, and missionary Dick Brogden have shared multiple first-hand testimonies given by former Muslims of how Jesus met with them in dreams and convinced them he is the Messiah.

Jesus met with them in dreams and convinced them he is the Messiah

"So many Muslims reject Islam but know that to follow Jesus will cost them everything," Brogden told Assemblies of God News, "Dreams of Jesus encourage them along the way and give them the comfort that Jesus will be with them.

In one account, a Saudi Arabian woman thought the devil was trying to trick her through the dream. So she prayed that, if Jesus was real, he would show himself to her. "Later, as she bent down to drink from a pool of water while tending her sheep in the desert, she saw the reflection of a massive man standing behind her, holding a shepherd's staff and smiling, but disappearing when she turned around.

Still doubting, she asked for one more proof. If Jesus was truly God, would he please heal her crippled mother, who immediately stood up and began to walk, at which her daughter threw up her hands in surrender and shouted "Jesus, I believe, I believe!"

IRANIAN ATTACK BACKFIRES

As the Iranian missile attack on Israel left the country largely unscathed in what was widely seen as a Passover miracle, Iran was at the same time suffering an influx of crocodiles as a result of extreme flooding.

The crocs were displaced by flash floods in the south-east of the country where residents were warned about 'short-nosed crocodiles' forced out of their habitat.

Some Torah commentators have said that the plague of frogs that afflicted Egypt according to the Exodus story might be interpreted to have been crocodiles.

TERRORISTS THREATEN US ALL

Terrorists are a threat not only to UK Jews, but to British society as a whole, according to Christian Friends of Israel spokesman David Soakell.

A new poll finds there are over 2.5 million Hamas sympathisers in the country (4% of the population), Hamas being an antisemitic genocidal terrorist organisation proscribed under UK law whose charter stands for the massacre of Jews everywhere.

The polling also shows that over three million Britons (5%) want all Jewish presence in the Middle East eliminated through mass expulsion, and the same number say the October 7th atrocity - the worst massacre of Jews since the Holocaust - was "iustified"

A SICK SOCIETY

Robin Simcox says Britain is treating its Jews badly

The UK is a "permissive environment" for antisemitism and London has become a "no-go zone for Jews' during weekend pro-Palestinian marches, the Government's Commissioner for Countering Extremism has said.

Robin Simcox said a good test of a society's health was how it treated its Jews – and, by this metric, Britain was "very sick indeed"

He urged ministers to "be bolder and be willing to accept higher legal risk" when tackling extremism.

· Pro-Palestine protesters slashed an historic painting at the University of Cambridge in March. Footage shows Palestine Action spray-painting a 1914 piece depicting Lord Arthur Balfour, who was responsible for the Balfour Declaration of 1917 promising British government support for "the establishment in Palestine of a national home for the Jewish people".

• After criticising Benjamin 'Bibi' Netanyahu during a public address, US President Joe Biden was later caught by a 'hot mic' speaking about the Israeli Prime Minister as follows: "I told him, Bibi — and don't repeat this — but you and I are going to have a 'come to Jesus' meeting." Quite what he was referring to is a mystery. Answers on a postcard.

• After a protester carrying a swastika sign was arrested at a pro-Palestinian march in London, outrage was sparked by a video in which a police officer told a pro-Israel counter-protester that the swastika sign had to be taken in context.

LONDON POLICE ACCUSED OF TAKING SIDES

Daily Mail columnist Richard Littlejohn has accused London's Metropolitan Police of taking sides in the ongoing battle to monitor weekly pro-Palestinian marches through the capital.

Campaign Against Anti-Semitism CEO Gideon Falter was threatened with arrest for attempting to cross the road while a march was taking place.

Because he looked 'openly Jewish' (he was wearing a kippah), he was considered to be antagonising the protestors and causing a potential breach of the peace.

But as Littlejohn pointed out, placard-waving anti-Israel demonstrators were at the same time screaming 'scum', 'disgusting' and 'Nazis' at Falter and his Jewish friends.

The encounter, he said, had lifted the lid on the shocking policy of appeasing the left-wing mob which has been standard operating procedure at Scotland Yard ever since these anti-Israel marches kicked off in the immediate aftermath of October 7.

"As this column has pointed out from the off, the police have been going out of their way to find excuses for going soft on pro-Palestinian activists, no matter how menacing their behaviour", Littlejohn wrote.

ISRAEL SUPPORT NOT ENOUGH – TRUSS

Former Prime Minister Liz Truss, who was hounded out of office after just 44 days over her unacceptable economic policies, has revealed how she had to intervene on occasions during her time in Downing Street to ensure Britain supported Israel.

Âlso a one-time Foreign Secretary, Truss has said: "I would like to see more support for Israel," adding that there is "a tendency to not support Israel as much as I would like in the Foreign Office

In my opinion, rumours that she was thinking of moving Tel Aviv's British Embassy to Jerusalem quite possibly had more to do with the trouble she encountered than has been generally acknowledged.

Lebanese terrorist militia The launched over 200 rockets, missiles and drones at Israel in just 24 hours on 16 May.

Bible teacher Amir Tsarfati reports that the government had promised to return residents the of northern Israel to their homes before the start of the school year in September. "For that to But. happen, Israel would need to launch a war against Hezbollah starting now.'

s Israel and Jewish communities marked the annual Memorial Day on 12-13 May, there was extra poignancy as Israel was seven months into its war on terrorist group Hamas.

By 13 May, 271 IDF service personnel had been killed in Gaza (plus a further 17 on the Israel-Lebanon border, six in Judea and Samaria, and 11 elsewhere in Israel), and many thousands were wounded – several hundred of them severelv

One Christian invited to a comemoration at a Sussex synagogue, said, "Although we'd been invited to join the service, we almost felt we were intruding. because I've never seen so much hurt and pain in a room".

Sharp fall in Gaza casualties

🖪 he demonstrations and shrill accusations of genocide against Israel were founded on false figures released by the Hamas-run Health ministry.

In early May Hamas finally admitted it could not verify as many as 10,000 of the claimed 34,000 deaths. Gaza's Health Ministry has also acknowledged that at least 24,000 of their unverifiable total were "martyrs": in other words, terrorist combatants. The United Nations Office for Coordination of Humanitarian Affairs (OCHA) lowered its child fatality figure from more than 14,500 deaths on 6 May to 7,797 on 8 May. OCHA also lowered its figure for women's fatalities from over 9,500 to 4,959 deaths.

Meanwhile a group of former US generals signed an open letter stating that Israel's conduct of the war against Hamas did not contravene international law and commended their careful protection of civilians.

Hamas was among the first to express its sorrow over the death of Iranian President Ebrahim Raisi on 19 May, along with the Taliban and Venezuela's President Maduro.

Some Iranians openly rejoiced over the hardline cleric's helicopter crash, letting off fireworks. Women with uncovered heads were seen waving their former national flag and Israel's flag. Raisi had overseen a harsh crackdown on women who refused to wear the hijab.

A graph comparing Gaza's civilian casualties to the most similar modern battle - the US attack on Mosul in Iraq – shows that Gaza has a civilian to combatant death rate of 1:5 - four times smaller than Mosul

Estimated range of Mosul and Gaza civilian casualty

Why is Rafah a red line?

estern governments were urging the Israelis not to invade Rafah, the city on the Gaza-Egypt border. Militarily, it was essential for the IDF to destroy the remaining Hamas battalions sheltering in tunnels under the city.

Officially, the warnings were to protect civilians.

Indeed, the Washington Post claims that President Biden's administration had offered "sensitive intelligence" concerning the whereabouts of Hamas leaders and hidden tunnels in Gaza in exchange for Israel holding back from launching a major incursion into Rafah. Israel had reportedly promised not to begin any large-scale operation in Rafah until it had evacuated at least 800,000 of the estimated one million evacuees, which had been achieved by mid-May, contrary to the White House's estimation of several months.

However, Bible teacher and commentator Amir Tsarfati believes that the US and Egypt are fearful of Hamas's huge tunnel system between Gaza and Egypt being exposed. It is claimed that Egyptian President Al Sisi allowed the Muslim extremists in Egypt to smuggle weapons to Hamas in return for peace within Egypt itself. Moreover, the US was fully aware of this behaviour by its ally. Hence Egypt's threats that its peace treaty with Israel would be in jeopardy if Israel invaded Rafah.

Egypt has also been condemned for displacing thousands of Palestinians from Rafah after demolishing their homes and blocking aid to the Palestinians. Journalist Bassam Tawil, writing for the Gatestone Institute (14 May), mocks Egypt for "piously" deciding to join the South African case against Israel [for genocide] at the International Court of Justice (ICC).

Meanwhile a group of US Republican senators wrote an open letter to the ICC, warning that they would use the law at their disposal to punish the ICC if it pursued Israel over genocide claims.

Kneeling before the Islamic god ith some of the US student protesters converting to Islam, seen here kneeling before the Islamic god, an Iranian woman who had moved to Germany took to Twitter to voice her alarm:

"People cannot even imagine how triggering it is for us to see the unholy unity of Islamists and radical leftists.. None of you [women] have read the 'Al Nisa' surah, where it is clearly stated that men literally own you and have the right to hit you if you refuse to have sex with them...What you are standing up for today is anything but being 'woke' and progressive...fighting Jewish students, attacking them, not understanding the fact that the hostages have to be brought back home and no peace can exist before that happens is outright wrong.

spreading so that this spiritual sickness has spread to every aspect of the culture of this land including language, marriage and family, the law, government and religion.

We have removed the ancient landmarks and so the nation is lost and can't find its way to God.

Once the language of Britain was influenced by the Scriptures. Now others decide what we can or cannot say: and speaking the Word is labelled a hate crime.

We are no longer using it to preserve and protect the innocence and conscience of the next generation. Instead, we teach them to rebel too.

We have downgraded marriage, legalised co-habitation and celebrated single parenthood.

The Government has failed the nation by opening the gates of the land and granting the gods of other religions leave to remain. After Gordon Brown's time, the Lord told me that it would take a while for Labour to come back, because Labour had damaged the moral fibre of Britain more than any other government. Labour legalised satanism and witchcraft as a religion; in Wales the old Celtic religions are being stirred up.

Most accountable of all is the Church. Unbelievers will sin, but we think we're OK because we go to church on Sunday. In fact, we have sinned against God and the Church by not leading the nation to know him.

Irrespective of everything, he reaches out to you, giving you another chance

Leaders should lead the people in the knowledge and ways of God, but we have missed the boat. We have failed God, the land, and the people. We have not exalted Christ and his Kingdom.

God has not given up on this land and seeks to heal and restore. He's stretching his hand to us, and we must come on his terms and conditions. Isaiah 1:16-20 says, "Come now and Isaiah 1:16-20 says, "Come now and let us reason together". Irrespective of everything, he reaches out to you, giving you another chance.

The healing of the nation must begin with the cleansing and restoration of the Church. She will be the instrument that God will use to restore the nation.

that God will use to restore the nation. The solution is simple. The Church must repent and humble herself as per Zechariah 3, which I believe is a prophetic word concerning the Church.

We will see the branch as the King of kings, as the Lord of lords, as the Son of God – the One to whom the nations have been given. "The iniquity of the land will be removed in one day when the Church is set right".

The Church is the problem, and the Church is the solution to the problem.

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW THE BRAYEST MAN I Andrew Bridgen's courage is beyond dispute. Following his conscience, he has called out global tyranny and cover-ups — and has been rewarded with smear campaigns. Now the 'rebel' MP who lost everything has found the secret to life. Andrew Bridgen tells Christian Hacking about the cleaners who pray for him, corrupted politics – and overcoming a demonic visitation

After Andrew Bridgen quoted a cardiologist who said that the damage done by the 'vaccines' was the greatest crime against humanity since the Holocaust, the Tory party expelled him for antisemitism and he now sits as an independent MP. Buoyed by support from the public, he has continued to challenge the establishment over the excess death statistics

Word is that you've become a Christian. Is it true?

Yes, I think so. But I'm probably not a very good Christian. I've always been a Christian, but I have prayed more in the last four years than in all the rest of my life added together. I'm 60 this year.

So you have a Christian background, but have there been any key moments of returning to Jesus in your fight to expose the truth about Covid?

Yes, some new friends have given me a lot of support and prayer online and in person over the last couple of years and have helped me reaffirm

How has Jesus helped you in this struggle?

Well, it hasn't been through the established Church because when I was thrown out of the Conservative party I contacted my local vicar and spoke to her husband. I rang three times to ask if I could have a meeting and they never came back to me. They didn't mind asking me to give a reading at the remembrance service though!

Has support come from other directions and are there others like you?

Yes, and it has generally been people of faith who have come and supported me, mostly Christians. And I've had friends who were very firmly

I have prayed more in the last four years than in all the rest of my life added together my faith. It was always there, but it's more in the foreground than it was, because I realised the extent of the tyranny being inflicted on the people during the Covid pandemic response.

We are in a spiritual war. It's not the politics of right and left but the politics of right and wrong, good and evil. We are in a fight for humanity now! At points you have been the only politician to clearly expose vaccine harms, excess deaths, and the lethal midazolam NG163 protocol.

Andrew Bridgen MP with a supporter outside Parliament in May agnostic at best, but who are awake to what is going on in the world now. It's made them have faith, because when they see pure, unadulterated evil, they know there has to be a balancing force and now they know what that is.

How would you describe that balancing force?

Certainly God. I could tell you something that you could never print because they'll think l'm mad.

Tell me more?

I had a demonic visitation on the night of 23 December last year, shortly after midnight.

I don't know whether I was dreaming or not, but suddenly I was bouncing off the bed and everything was shaking. It felt like minus 40.

I looked across the room and there was a dark entity in the corner. I'd been told by Christian friends how to deal with spiritual attack and it just came naturally to say, "Be gone in the name of Jesus, be gone!"

After I said that three times, the whole thing dropped and the room returned to normal. I've never had anything like that in my life before.

The Scriptures say, "Resist the devil and he will flee from you". It sounds like you did that. Has it been back since?

The next night I wasn't scared to go to bed. It has never happened again.

Have you been under any other spiritual attack?

Some of the stuff that goes on in the chamber -- the jeering and the heckling -- feels demonic. In January 2023, I got a phone call from a young lady from the parliamentary welfare office asking me if I was suicidal. Apparently a number of people had reported me. More recently I was in Copenhagen outside an airport when a British man walking past recognised me and started verbally abusing me, frothing at the mouth and swearing.

About six weeks ago, the same happened in London, the same person in a different city and on a street I've never been on before. I just can't understand it.

Do you think standing up against high-level corruption has taken its toll on you?

I came into politics as a multi-millionaire from business. I am penniless now. I don't own a house, I don't even own a car. Despite 30 years of never claiming, I can't even get car insurance.

Nevena [Andrew's second wife and mother to their son] is divorcing me. I went to six legal firms, no one will represent me. That is how the establishment has closed ranks on me.

But do you know what? I still feel richer now than when I came into politics. These are riches the material world cannot take off me.

Jesus says in this world we will have trouble but "Take heart, I have overcome the world". Tell us about some of your darkest days and how God has overcome them.

Even on the darkest days of the fight I've been on, when I walk out of parliament late at night, one of the cleaning ladies sees there is no-one in the corridor and whispers, "Andrew we are praying for you -- keep going". It's happened so many times.

What your readers need to know is that the politicians are not the majority in parliament. There are 1000s of cooks and cleaners, waiters and waitresses, security guards and police. I promise you, they are overwhelmingly with me.

Following the recent article in The Times attacking your personal life, a number of HEART readers will be very concerned about your separation from your second wife, Nevena. Is there any chance your marriage can be saved?

Sadly not. I understand I put a target on my wife's back. There is no target on her back now.

You also need to bear in mind that the Times is a very controlled newspaper. It's so disappointing.

Every line of my speeches has been gone through by top scientists

Every line of my speeches has been gone through by top scientists to make sure no one can shoot holes in it. These are put in briefings and sent to The Times and others.

They ignore them, but they are quite happy to report on my private life. Ultimately, there is a little boy involved who's five years old who will have to read this.

In the article, they make multiple accusations against you. One is that you have been radicalised and that the political establishment failed to protect you.

It's ludicrous. My degree is in biological sciences, with biochemistry, specialising in genetics, virology, and behaviour, so I could see for myself that the science wasn't right.

Another accusation is that you aren't contributing to your wife and child's needs.

That's rubbish – I pay every month. I won't get these years back but I believe we will be vindicated, possibly this year.

It's tough for my boy and for everyone but I am doing this in order to spare everyone else's children the harm caused by unnecessary Covid vaccinations, and to protect future generations from global tyranny. That's how I justify it to myself.

So were the 'vaccines' "safe and effective"?

How can they be safe and effective when the vaccine they used in the trial wasn't the one they rolled out round the world anyway? In the Pfizer trial they only followed the 22,000 vaccinated group for eight weeks and then they vaccinated the placebo group so you can never do a proper test.

The 1000s of cooks, cleaners, Parliament are overv

They destroyed their own data. Interestingly, "safe and effective" was the marketing slogan for thalidomide.

You described the current parliamentary system as a pantomime, and the next general election as passing on the baton.

The illusion is it's a race between the blue, red, yellow, green, orange teams to the finish line. It's actually a baton handed over.

On all the big issues -- Agenda 2030, net zero, the forever wars, the WHO, pandemic responses - everyone agrees. The only losers at the next election are the British people once again. It's not co-operation but capitulation and a betrayal of the trust that has been placed in elected officials who are handing over Britain's sovereign power. What do you think the chances are of being voted in as an independent?

I think I've got a good chance, and the longer it goes until we have an election, the more people are waking up. In the last week or so, we've crossed the tipping point.

The fact that we have defibrillators in schools, that elite athletes are keeling over and that so many people know others who've passed before their time – people can see that this is not normal. How should people vote if they don't want to play into the globalists' hands?

I think they have to look for independence. What we need is a new system.

The only protection is direct democracy, some-security guards and police in whelmingly with me

The people will have to become the government again. Switzerland has had this system for a very long time. They've got, on average, twice our earnings per person, and they haven't had a war for 150 years.

Speaking of wars, you recently said we are already at war with Russia. What did you mean?

I had a meeting with Andrei Kelin, the Russian Ambassador in London. He said, "We know British people must be firing storm shadow missiles out of Ukraine because there is no way you could have trained the Ukrainians to fire them. I have no doubt that they will be classed as contractors, but probably the week before they went to Ukraine, they were still in the British army." We are being shepherded into a war with Russia because of vested interests. People need to wake up.

The Telegraph has stated that the Russians have found oil in British Antarctica. Do you think this has anything to do with it?

There is no doubt Antarctica has plenty of resources, but so does Russia. It's the biggest country in the world. Despite the propaganda, since 1991 NATO has moved 1000 miles closer to Russia. Russia hasn't moved closer to us. Russia's national sport is chess. Ours is football.

Let's give the final word to Jesus.

The lion of truth is beginning to roar, and people are going to hear it, and those who are not in the truth are getting scared. I think we are going to have a great reset, but not the kind they are thinking about.

DEAD AND INJURED

Despite last minute attempts to stop it, Andrew Bridgen secured another debate on vaccine deaths and injuries. Christian Hacking was in the chamber

"Given the evidence, I call on the Government once again to immediately suspend the use of all mRNA treatments in both humans and animals," stated MP Andrew Bridgen during the long-awaited, nearly three-hour parliamentary debate on Covid deaths on 18 April.

The applause following the statement was so loud that Madam Deputy Speaker had to rebuke, and then threaten the gleeful crowd with 'clearance'. She repeated the threat three times that afternoon organising a car rally to protest at the WHO's Geneva HQ

Groups of supporters who arrived late or couldn't fit into the gallery formed an excited crowd around the bronze shins of the Gandhi statue in Parliament Square. Eventually, Bridgen arrived and gave a short speech, finishing with, "Truth is like a lion. It doesn't need to be defended, it just needs to be set free

And for many in the crowd, this was personal. Paula from Devon stated, "My sister had a stroke following the vaccine. She worked in an old people's home and refused it six times. Eventually, coerced and worn down, she took it. After the stroke, she was unpaid for three months and still struggles with sciatica and other pain.

Ĥer sister contacted the vaccine damage payment scheme only to receive a 60-page document stating her sister was "0% disabled" and therefore not eligible.

Ian, a businessman from Tyneside, attributed a spree of deaths and disabilities among close friends and family to the Covid jab.

"My wife's uncle had the booster; now he's got permanent shakes. My friend Craig begged his aunt not to get the vaccine. She had the jab and died a week later, aged 58. The coroner confirmed it was the vaccine.3

Orlando, a primary teacher from North London, stated that by June 2020, he'd realised there was no science behind the imposed measures. This was followed by a six-year-old entering his class with an 'I just got vaccinated' sticker. "I thought a crime had been committed", he confessed.

Also addressing the crowd was Dan Astin-Gregory, a 40-year-old YouTuber from Southbourne, Dorset, whose Pandemic Podcast went viral in August 2020 when he began questioning the holes in the pandemic narrative.

He told me: "We were meant to be going on honeymoon in Asia at the time and so I was keeping a careful eye on developments. What I noticed was an ever-increasing void between the data and the policy. What I was really seeing was the controlled demolition of the West."

"A gaping God-shaped hole in society and a clear lack of moral guidance"

When asked about God and faith, Astin-Gregory stated he takes inspiration from various faiths but acknowledged "a gaping God-shaped hole in society and a clear lack of moral guidance'

Astin-Gregory has organised, with others, a road trip across Europe to the WHO headquarters in Switzerland, that was due to leave at the end of May.

"Irrespective of the vote, we want to make a declaration of our clear independence'

Andrew Bridgen was set to speak at the event on 1 June outside the WHO, along with Swiss lawyer Phillip Krauss, about the threats that the New Pandemic Treaty (NPT) and amendments to the International Health Regulations (IHR) pose to national sovereignty. Other speakers included Piers Corbyn and Bridgen's Parliamentary aide.

Truth never damages a cause that is just," said Ghandi once, his 2.5 meter statue looming over the afternoon's events, and yet while the truth about the Covid vaccines is suppressed, many more people will be damaged.

Bridgen is right. The truth doesn't need defending, it just needs to be set free.

After surviving abuse, tragedy and heartbreak, Sara Jones has planted two Christian fellowships, with a third on the way

By Chris Eyte

Christian fellowship planting churches across South Wales has seen an uplift in men coming to faith in Jesus after getting out on the streets and talking to people about the Gospel.

Sara Jones runs Everlasting Ministries, a house church based in two locations: Barry and nearby Rhoose. She founded the church in October 2021 with a vision to "reach the lost, to equip and release people into whatever role the Lord has given them, to speak the truth of the Bible."

"We went out in the streets and just talked to people"

Sara told HEART that the church ministry to young men had seen an unprecedented boost in numbers, thanks to local outreach efforts.

"We sought to spread the Gospel as much as we could and saw an influx of men coming in that was completely different to what other churches were seeing. We went out in the streets and just talked to people. The Lord led mainly men to us."

Sara left her last church in November 2020 as she disagreed with their stance on the Covid pandemic. At the time, she was unwell and taking 22 tablets per day, asthma medication and various "lotions and potions".

Her own background was one of brokenness; she had suffered physical, emotional and sexual abuse before the age of eight. Later, she says, "I had two abusive husbands, one of whom I have a life long injunction against."

In this wilderness time out of church, she "took time out to spend with God". In January 2021, she was reading the Bible and questioned God's ability to heal.

"Within nine months I was healed and no longer taking any medication"

"I said, 'Lord there is a problem, your Word says you heal but here I am, a sick woman.'

"The Lord said he would need to heal my mind and heart from the many years of abuse that I'd endured first. Within nine months I was healed and no longer taking any medication."

At that time she met an "incredible" man called Andrew and they both felt a call to start a house church in Barry in South Wales, opened in October 2021. However, they experienced a fierce spiritual battle as the vision gathered pace. "We had never understood the

"We had never understood the spiritual fight until we made the decision to open the church," Sara said. In November 2021, Andrew went into hospital with sepsis and high blood sugars. Sara maintains he could have survived, because the hospital said he had Covid and, against his will, put him on a ventilator.

Sara says, "The ventilator was actually what killed him because it caused a bug in his lungs. He went to be with the Lord in January 2022 – the year we were due to marry."

Even so, Sara was determined to follow God's plan for her life and ministry.

"Despite the devastation I carried on and the ministry has grown beyond what we both expected. Only God can be given the credit for this."

The Barry fellowship has now started a church plant in the town of Cwmbran, north of Newport city, also in South Wales. A house church opened there in April.

Meanwhile, further plans are being made for another house church "coming on board" in the city of Cardiff, according to Sara. The third church plant is planned to "hopefully" open in June (2024).

Sara, excited about the spree of church plants, added: "We are also seeing a need for a separate group for people with disabilities, which

INDIA CHRISTIAN LEADERS ATTACKED WITH SWORDS

Rour men from a Sikh traditional warrior order have attacked a pastor and another Christian with swords and knives in the northern state of Punjab, for leading church worship in their village.

The Sikhs had warned them not to lead church services

The Nihang Sikhs, who are permitted to carry such weapons, attacked Pastor Gurjeet Singh and his younger brother Gurdeep on 18 April in Sultanwind village in Amritsar, according to Morning Star News. The Sikhs had previously warned the men not to lead church services or convert people to Christianity.

Protecting his head with his arm, Pastor Singh suffered severe cuts to his hands and arms and almost lost his thumb. Gurdeep sustained deep cuts on his head, hands and arm. Both needed surgery for their wounds.

people. The victims included a baby strapped to her mother's back, who was killed by the same bullet as her mother. The same attackers slaughtered about 20 other Christians in surrounding communities.

According to Christian Daily International and MSN, scores have been killed in Benue state in the first six months of this year, including two killed on 28 April by Fulani herdsmen who had killed five Christians the previous day in another part of the state.

Nigerian troops have opened fire on some students protesting at the lack of military protection for Christians

Even south-eastern Nigeria is not immune. On 28 April, Fulani herdsmen killed at least six Christians, including children, in a raid on the predominantly Christian Ugwujoro Nimbo village in Enugu state. Seven others suffered machete injuries.

In Kaduna state on 23 April, Rev Manasseh Ibrahim was ambushed by armed 'bandits', who shot and killed him as he travelled to minister to church members in northern Kaduna. Ibraham was a pastor with ECWA [Evangelical Church Winning All] Church in Gure. On 20 April, Fulani herdsmen killed a Christian in Entepka village in Benue state, after killing two others two days earlier.

Release International reports that Nigerian troops have opened fire on some students protesting at the lack of military protection for Christians, and is calling for an inquiry.

Nigerian authorities have acknowledged that two students were shot but claim they were hit by stray bullets. Other sources say more students were wounded, and that the army twice opened fire on civilian protesters within one week.

PUNJAB INTRODUCES BILL TO BAN CHILD MARRIAGES

bill intended to outlaw child marriage has given hope to Christians, because it could prevent forced marriages and conversions.

There have been many cases of girls from minority religion backgrounds being abducted by Muslims and forcibly married and converted.

Christian Daily International-Morning Star News reports that on 25 April the government of Pakistan's most populated province submitted the draft of the Punjab Child Marriage

Muazzam Mazhar, accused of kidnapping and forcibly marrying Roshni Shaqeel

Restraint Act 2024, which would raise the legal age for marriage for both boys and girls to 18 years; previously it was 16 for girls.

The law change will protect underage girls from sexual exploitation

The bill would mean that anyone who marries a girl or boy under 18 or arranges such a marriage – including parents or guardians – would face two to three years in prison and a fine of between 100,000 and 200,000 Pakistani rupees.

Religious freedom advocates are hopeful that the law change will protect minor girls from sexual exploitation, but are calling for the law to be equally applied to girls belonging to minority religions.

The bill comes too late for Roshni Shaqeel, a 13-year-old Christian Punjabi girl who was kidnapped by a Muslim on 13 March. On 25 March, the Lahore High Court rejected Roshni's mother's attempt to reclaim her daughter, and instead sided with Muazzam Mazhar, the 28-year-old who abducted Roshni and forcibly converted her to Islam and married her.

Moral muddle

Our society's moral standards are inconsistent

On a recent hour-long BBC programme looking at the Online Safety Act, there were parents whose children had either committed suicide or had been murdered by people influenced by social media clips about killing.

Discussing how soon young people should get a phone capable of searching these 'dark sites', the bereaved parents suggested that 13 was too young.

If 13 is too young to see violent images, how can we credibly ask younger children about their sexual preferences?

Another inconsistency is that women who have a miscarriage can, if they want, obtain a certificate to provide some record of the 'life' of their child. This provides some comfort to those overcome by this tragedy.

So we acknowledge the lives of 'miscarried children' and at the same time approve the killing of the unborn.

With reference to the prophetic paintings by artist Julie Ann Scott (A storm is coming', April/May), we had a dream in July 2017 about a storm, after which God led us to Ezekiel 13:10-13. This speaks of God's judgement by means of a storm, which

Prophetic dreams

We think it interesting that we had the dream about a storm six months after Julie Ann Scott had a word from God about it. At the time, we felt that we had been experiencing "the calm before the storm", and that judgement has been coming because of ungodliness and attempts to divide the land of Israel and impose a peace settlement.

We also had a dream about God's judgement on the UK in 2018, involving an angel with a sword, when we were reminded of the famous words from the song 'Jerusalem': "Nor shall my sword sleep in my hand".

Repent – or disaster

Rev Jennifer Abigail Lawson-Wallace, p15 (April/May) closes with 2 Chronicles 7:14: "IF my people repent ..."

But the really prophetic message is the following verses: "But if not, DISAS-TER!" Have we repented?

The previous verse says, "When I send the plague ..." God sends all the plagues in the Bible, but in love his aim is always to bring repentance. There was little repentance after Covid. Instead, we had several Covid variants, then war in Ukraine, then inflation and the cost of living crisis, then war in Israel.

The Christian response is "Love your enemies ... do not repay evil with evil.' Wow, that is a challenge!

DISCIPLESHIP BY TIM AND TOPE PEARSON

HAVE YOU COUNTED THE COST OF BEING A DISCIPLE?

During difficulties and temptations on their journey, we tend to protect ourselves, rather than fight to keep on track with Jesus t does not matter how many years you have been a Christian if your faith hasn't grown.

Has your relationship and love for Jesus matured, as you followed him, rather than following the pattern of this world (Romans 12:2)?

Believers also face challenges from worldly 'woke' ideology at work and even in the Church. This was anticipated by the apostle Paul: "For the time will come when people will not put up with sound doctrine. Instead, to suit their own desires, they will gather around them a great number of teachers to say what their itching ears want to hear" (2 Timonthy 4:3).

True baptism

Baptism is essential to live as a victorious Christian. Sadly, some Christians admit they did not quite grasp the Good News message and went along with the process of water baptism just to please their pastor or a relative.

But if there is no true conviction of sin or real brokenness, one is simply 'getting wet'!

Baptism marked the start of Jesus's ministry and the Ethiopian eunuch asked to be baptised, saying, "What are we waiting for?

You should also seek to be filled with the Holy Spirit, like the first disciples, to empower you to be his witness. Jesus "You will receive power promised: when the Holy Spirit comes on you; and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth" (Acts 1:8).

The importance of accountability in the Body of Christ

Jesus also challenged his disciples to count the cost of following him: "Or suppose a king is about to go to war against another king. Won't he first sit down and consider whether he is able with ten thousand men to oppose the one coming against him with twenty thousand? If he is not able, he will send a delegation while the other is still a long way off and will ask for terms of peace. In the same way, those of you who do not give up everything you have cannot be my disciples" (Luke 14:31-35). Ask one or two trusted believing friends if you could be accountable to them and if they could cover you in their regular prayers.

We are co-founders of Equipping the Saints Ministries. Most mature Christians have never been taught how to disciple a new believer and at ĔTS, we offer a standalone one-day Discipleship training session for churches and ministries, equipping those who need to grow in their faith or helping mature believers walk alongside a new convert (one-to-one). A time to choose

On the evening of 7 October 2023, as the scale of the massacre in southern Israel emerged, I felt very strongly that this was a moment of choice for the Church.

It was such an egregious attack on the people of Israel – and by extension on all Jews – that non-Jews would be obliged to take a stance, either of solidarity with Israel or by hardening their attitudes.

I have concluded that the 'default setting' of humanity is to be opposed to the Lord's purposes, until the heart is changed by the Holy Spirit. Hence it should be no surprise that so many people have an antipathy towards Jewish people! While the unbelieving majority might be somewhat vague in their understanding and convictions about the background to the massacre, Christians should have no such excuse.

After over four decades of observing modern Israel and the way nations, organisations and individuals respond to it, I have seen that Genesis 12:2-3 applies without exception to everyone, regardless of whether they take it seriously!

Given that the Jewish people and the nation of Israel are central to the Lord's prophetic purposes, I consider that 7 October is the most prophetically significant event since 9/11. Our enemy knows that biblical prophecy requires that Jews must be living in Israel before they can finally recognise their Messiah at his return in glory.

This is not a political issue, but a Bible issue. World events are moving very rapidly towards the return of the Messiah. We need to be ready!

I know from Britain and Israel that the steadfast moral support and material generosity of committed Christians is playing its part in the softening of Jewish hearts towards the Gospel of Christ. And with many thousands called up to the IDF and or displaced from their homes, there has been a great increase in spiritual hunger. Let us pray earnestly for the Jewish people, in Israel and around the world, that the veil will be lifted from their spiritual eyes and that they will seek and find their Messiah (2 Corinthians 3:14-16).

Pete Walker Knighton, Powys

The Francis Scott Bridge

Jesus said that in the latter days there will be wars, famines, earthquakes and other disasters (Matthew 24: 4–8).

Such seismic events can pave the way for historical breakthroughs. For example, as World War 1 set the scene for the land of Palestine to become a homeland for the Jews, so World War 2 prepared the Jewish people to return to their ancient homeland.

On 25 March, the United Nations Security Council passed a resolution calling for a halt to the war between Israel and Hamas. What surprised many was that the United States, previously Israel's reliable ally, did not veto this resolution.

While the UN delegates were voting, dock workers in Baltimore were preparing the container ship 'Dali', one of the world's largest container ships, to leave port. Within one hour of sailing, the 'Dali' collided with the Francis Scott Bridge which crosses the Patapsco River, leading to the bridge being cut in two and collapsing.

'Dali' means 'Immediately', 'Quickly', or 'Hurriedly'. That collision of ship and bridge symbolically reflected the broken relationship between America and Israel 'Immediately ' after the UN vote – and it has further deteriorated with the Biden administration trying to limit Israel's military advance in Gaza.

The entrance to the Patapsco River forms the Baltimore Harbour, the location of the 1812 Battle of Baltimore, where Francis Scott Key wrote 'The Star-spangled Banner', a poem later set to music as the national anthem of the US. That location has come to represent the whole of the United States of America.

The function of a bridge is to bring together those who live on opposite sides of a river. Given that the bridge was destroyed and that this happened only a few hours after the United Nations vote, it illustrates that modern day events, although they can be perplexing, should not be ignored.

Such connections also link biblical events. In my book, 'My Master's Sevenfold Plan', I link the seven days of Creation to the seven biblical feasts of Israel, and the seven pillars of wisdom (Proverbs 9:1–6) – essential reading for those who wish to understand the Bible. Health Watch "BANISH MRNA TECHNOLOGY"

A cancer expert has said that the mRNA technology used in the Covid injections should be banned.

Oncology professor Dr Angus Dalgleish claims that Pfizer lied about their experimental mRNA injection, and tried to hide data showing that it was unsafe for the public.

Speaking on Talk TV 'Weekend Breakfast' on 6 April, Prof Dalgleish said that Pfizer tried to hide VAERS (the US's Vaccine Adverse Effects Reporting System) data which showed that you had a three per cent chance of dying from an adverse reaction to the vaccine but only a one per chance of dying from the virus.

Prof Dalgleish explained that MRNA technology suppresses the immune system and should not be used for infectious disease vaccines and that the board of Pfizer should be held to account.

GMO JABS

Australian barrister Julian Gillespie has discovered that the Covid injections are, in fact, GMO (Genetically Modified Organism) products which would never have been accepted as vaccines or granted emergency use approval.

"You must banish all these vaccines now because they're doing so much damage... They should never be used for infectious disease vaccines, and you have Moderna and Pfizer and all these companies pushing them. It should be banned."

Previously Prof Dalgleish has said that the excess deaths started with the vaccine programme, not with Covid. He has also stated that the current high incidents of cancer cases are highly likely to occur as a result of the 'so-called' Covid-19 vaccines.

Presenter David Bull summed up the interview by stating that safety protocols were waived to expedite the vaccine, with which Dr Dalgleish concurred. "The whole board—CEO, everybody—should be held to account for this... It should never even have been given an emergency licence."

Gillespie has given interviews to Dr John Campbell, the nursing professor whose YouTube broadcasts have around 2 million viewers, about his legal research and attempts to bring lawsuits against the Australian health authorities.

The WHO's threat to sovereignty

As the deadline loomed for the signing of the WHO's New Pandemic Treaty (NPT) and amendments to the International Health Regulations (IHR), questions were being asked about the potential surrender of sovereignty in Parliament.

Former Home Secretary Suella Braverman declared in the Commons in May that Britain should not surrender sovereignty to an outside organisation, while Lord Strathcarron, speaking in the Lords on 7 May, questioned the WHO's "woeful performance in the Covid pandemic" and asked the Government to delay the votes until the next World Health Authority meeting so that they could have "proper parliamentary scrutiny of what the Government are signing us up to".

Lord Markham, speaking for the Government, however, could not see a reason to delay signing up.

An easy to read explanation of the 'inconvenient' truths around Israel

REVIEW BY PETER SAMMONS

Israel – The Inconvenient Truth Dividing the World and The Church

by James P Smith

Available solely via author at email: jamiepsmith1970@gmail.com

Tames Smith's book is aimed primarily at a believing readership, but non-Christian readers might well benefit from its information, too. I am reasonably well versed in modern Israel's history, yet Smith's material filled in some gaps.

Arab 'Palestinians' became pawns in a broader power struggle

Divided into 11 chapters, Smith looks at the broad subject of Israel – its place in the world, and its place in God's overarching plan for mankind. 1. Israel, the man, the family, the nation

2. From Israel to Palestine 3. From Palestine to Israel

Explosive truth: a new film exposes anti-Israel propaganda

REVIEW BY CHARLES GARDNER

Whose Land? Part II – The Law of Occupation and the Status of Jerusalem

Produced by Hugh Kitson

Titledeed Media (UK premier 30 May) mid the intense warfare provoked by the barbaric Hamas invasion of 7 October comes an explosive new documentary that exposes the lies surrounding the rightful ownership of the land of Israel.

Established film-maker Hugh Kitson has produced a brilliant 113-minute film that challenges the Western media's false narratives. It comes with an endorsement by Douglas Murray of The Spectator, who has been defending Israel on multiple platforms.

Narrated by Col Richard Kemp, former British army chief in Afghanistan, it features a host of international lawyers, professors, politicians, and military experts, and is set against the stunning backdrop of Israel.

In terms of international law the film concludes that there is absolutely no question of Israel's rightful inheritance to the land. But the nations have fallen hook, line, and sinker for Arab claims that Israel has stolen it from them.

Britain's role is sullied by several examples of betrayal. Having been handed the privilege of preparing the Jewish people for statehood, we meekly succumbed to the threats of those who did not wish Jews to live among them.

Britain's role is sullied by several examples of betrayal

When, in 1947, the UN effectively proposed a 'two-state solution' of separate Jewish and Arab states living side by side, the Jews accepted the far from ideal plan, but the Arabs rejected it out of hand. Israel was reborn nonetheless, but immediately came under fierce attack from her Arab neighbours, with a British general even commanding the a logical and forensic look at the 'big picture'. Smith demolishes some shibboleths, reminding us that there has never been a country called 'Palestine'.

He uncovers the ideological fault lines in the Middle East

The 'nakba' ('catastrophe') was a problem that could have been solved in 1948-49, had surrounding nations opened themselves to provide permanent homes for 'refugees'. Instead, the Arab 'Palestinians' became pawns in a broader power struggle. They still are!

Smith sets out inconvenient truths. In our post-truth world, presenting truth wins neither arguments nor plaudits. Whatever evidence Smith provides will not change the minds of those locked into the 'Palestinian narrative' versus Israel as a supposedly 'Nazi state'.

Smith's book is broader than just the 'Palestinian question'. Delving back to Genesis, he traces Israel within God's covenantal framework.

His mapping of ancient lands to modern geopolitical counterparts is especially useful.

Finally, Smith tackles head-on the institutional churches' long-standing dalliance with 'replacement theology'. He does not do this through extensive exegesis of Scripture, but appeals, quite rightly, to God's covenant promises to a specific people group and a specific geographical location. God has not changed his mind, nor his purposes!

The book is well illustrated; at 208pp it is comprehensive, but engaging and easy to read.

One reader has said: "It brings together all the relevant facts concisely and in chronological order, showing the causes of the current hostility towards Israel by uncovering the ideological fault lines in the Middle East".

This is a great introduction for the general reader and a useful summary for those more experienced in this field. Recommended.

Peter Sammons is the author of several books, including "The Prince of Peace – Finding True Peace in a World that Wars" (Christian Publications International, 2015)

At a crucial time of rising hatred against the Jewish people, this book exposes the lies and propaganda by providing historical, archaeological, legal and biblical evidence for Israel's right to live and flourish in their ancient homeland.

You could be forgiven for believing, like so many do, that the Jews illegally occupy a land stolen from an indigenous Arab "Palestinian" people. Moreover, you would think the people who suffered the Holocaust are apparently guilty of trying to exterminate the "Palestinians".

This is a lie with no factual basis whatsoever. No matter how inconvenient to both the world and the Church, the truth about Israel must still be declared.

"One cannot and must not try to erase the past merely because it does not fit the present" Golda Meir

"This book is really spot on! I warmly recommend it to anyone who genuinely wants to understand what is happening with Israel. Do give it to those who are shocked by what they hear in the news but don't have time to do their 'homework'!"

The Jewish longing for Jerusalem is centuries old. This famous photo shows soldiers entering the Old City in 1967 for the first time since Jordan annexed it in 1948 attacking Jordanian forces.

In that War of Independence, Jordan illegally annexed Judea, Samaria, and East Jerusalem (now collectively known as the West Bank) – an act recognised only by Britain and Pakistan – with Jerusalem's Old City ethnically cleansed of Jews in the process. When Israel took back what was rightfully hers in the 1967 SixDay War, she subsequently became designated as the "illegal occupier". Blatant propaganda really took hold when Jordan later 'transferred' the West Bank to the Palestinians, described by Col Kemp as "like handing over stolen property".

Palestinian propaganda has since poisoned the minds of everyone from Arab schoolchildren to foreign ministers of Western countries around the globe.

The film highlights the absurdities of the conflict, like the idea of giving up land for peace, which has only served to increase Palestinian terrorism. And after the Camp David agreement of 2000, "Arafat won a (Nobel) peace prize for going home and starting a war," referring to the so-called Second Intifada

The problem for the Arabs was actually that Jewish people were living in land that had been claimed by Islam. Meanwhile the UN constantly promotes a radical anti-Israel agenda that denies Israel's ancient links with the land, which the Western media do not challenge. Jerusalem, the heart of Judaism for 3,000 years, became a particularly hot potato when the threat of an oil embargo saw the last remaining 13 foreign embassies leave Jerusalem for Tel Aviv in 1980.

Jerusalem was ethnically cleansed of its Jews

Though the film does not seek to give a theological overview, it includes several Christian participants. Surely those of us who believe in the absolute authority of God's Word have no choice but to back Israel to the hilt, especially in view of the current genocidal war which seeks to wipe them off the face of the earth. Quite apart from legitimate international treaties (San Remo in 1920 and the League of Nations Mandate of 1922), the land bears the seal of divine promise (Genesis 15:18 and 17:8, for example).

And Jews from every corner of the globe have returned there in direct fulfilment of a shedload of biblical prophecies.

These are the people through whom Jesus, our Saviour, came. God still regards them as the "apple of his eye" (Deuteronomy 32:10, Zechariah 2:8) and his "treasured possession" (Exodus 19:5, Malachi 3:17 and three times in Deuteronomy). We would do well to note Isaiah's stark warning: "For the nation or kingdom that will not serve you will perish; it will be utterly ruined" (Isaiah 60:12).

Col Richard Kemp

The film ends, appropriately, with a clip of Israel's former Ambassador to the UN Danny Danon holding up a Bible, declaring: "This is the deed to our land."

Some wars can get overlooked...

But marriage, especially Christian marriage, has been under attack for decades.

Marriage is not just a good idea It is God's Idea!

Do I need this?

BEING A CHRISTIAN is about a relationship with Jesus Christ, the only Son of the living God, who died in our place, to pay the price for our sin. He desires to welcome you into God's family here on earth and into heaven when you die.

To start this relationship, simply pray the following prayer; if you mean it, he'll respond, because the Bible says that God looks at our hearts.

"Dear God, I am a sinner and need forgiveness. I believe that Jesus shed his precious blood and died for my sin and rose from the dead.

I am willing to turn away from my sin. I now invite Christ to come into my heart and life as my personal Saviour."

The churches featured in this paper will be happy to welcome you and explain the importance of daily Bible reading, daily prayer, baptism, being part of a congregation where the Bible is preached and believed, and telling others about what Jesus has done for you.

A compelling biography of a Christian heroine

Being Elisabeth Elliot

The Authorised Biography

By Ellen Vaughn

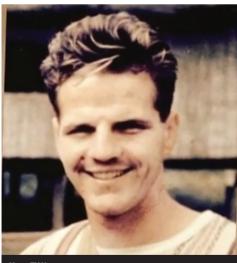

B and H Publishing Group

n occasional visits to America, one of my treats is to find a bookshop to browse around. America seems to do everything much bigger than Britain, and that includes their bookshops.

On my last visit, I spent two hours looking at books, before sitting with a coffee (they all seem to have a coffee shop), pondering which of the many books to buy.

Elisabeth decided, with only her snake-bite kit, Bible, journal, and toddler daughter, to stay in the jungle

'Being Elisabeth Elliot' was one I chose, and I am so glad I did. I was initially a little disappointed as I had not spotted the sticker which said it dealt with her later years, but as I read the book it more than made up for it. For those who don't know anything about Elisabeth Elliot, let me introduce you to the woman who is the subject of this compelling biography. As a young missionary, she and her husband, Jim Elliot, and their toddler daughter went to Ecuador, in South America, with a small team of missionaries to reach out to the Auca Indians (now known as the Waorani).

As a young 21-year-old, Elisabeth had prayed:

"My life is on thy altar, Lord—for thee to consume. Set the fire, Father! Bind me with cords of love to the altar. Hold me there. Let me remember the Cross.

For Elisabeth, the central question was not, "How does this make me feel?

but simply, "Is this true?" If so, then the next question was, "What do I need to do about it to obey God?"

Once the team reached Ecuador, they attempted to contact the Auca Indians, only for members of the tribe to savagely spear Jim to death along with his four colleagues, Nate Saint, Ed McCully, Peter Fleming, and Roger Youderian.

It was 1956 and their death and story was broadcast around the world. But more incredibly Elisabeth decided, with only her snake-bite kit, Bible, journal, and toddler daughter, to stay in the jungle, and continue to reach out to the very Stone Age savages who killed her husband and fellow missionaries.

forgiveness, many in the tribe came to faith in Jesus, through her witness.

Maybe her name is not so well known today. When a few years later she returned to America, she found herself a celebrity.

It is at this point that the book starts. It is accurate to say that Elisabeth became one of the most influential, no-nonsense Christian ladies in modern Church history,

She was one of the most influential. no-nonsense Christian ladies in modern Church history

There is always a danger with biographies of Christian celebrities to ignore any weaknesses they have; this book doesn't. Elisabeth Elliot married again and watched as her husband, a professor in theology at the Gordon Conwell Theological seminary, struggled as cancer slowly destroyed him. It caused many questions for both of them. She married a third time. Within nine days she told her closest family and friends she had made the biggest mistake of her life!

As her life drew to a close, Alzheimers disease took her memory and even her voice. Her life was to end on 15 June 2015.

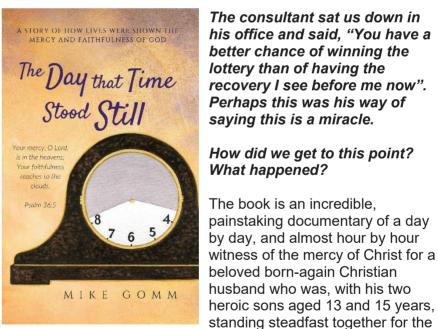

I am so glad I chose this book to read. There are places where you will laugh and other times where you will cry. But above all, it is real and will draw you closer to our Lord. Elisabeth Elliot truly was a woman of God.

The remarkable German woman who defied the Gestapo and built a ministry of repentance out of the ashes of WW2

'I Found the Key to the Heart of God'

by M Basilea Schlink (2023)

Evangelical Sisters of Mary, Herts WD7 8DE Tel: 01923 856316; sistersofmaryuk@gmail.com et me introduce you to a book that was first published 50 years ago. At the time Basilea Schlink was a 70-year-old lady. Her remarkable story has resonated with many over the years.

Now a new generation can read the story of this amazing woman who grew up in pre-World War 2 Germany and with her close friend, Erika Madauss, went on to birth an international ministry. The 'Evangelical Sisterhood of Mary is still based in Darmstadt, Germany today. 'I Found the Key to the Heart of God' is a completely new edition of the original classic, freshly translated from the original German, and attractively presented in hardback.

The first part of the book describes life growing up in Germany from before the beginning of World War 1, and on through the rise of the Nazis and the effect of World War 2. Having come to faith in Christ during a time of sickness, Basilea longed to share her faith with others. She did this through serving as a Darmstadt City Mission youth worker, as a Bible College lecturer, and then working with the Germany Student Christian Movement.

German Student Christian The

Movement went through a difficult time in the 1930s as they debated whether to comply and implement the Aryan Paragraph concerning Jews. Basilea argued for its rejection which meant that Jews were still welcome at their activities. The movement voted and agreed with her view. Twice she was reported to the Gestapo and interrogated for hours because of her decision to follow Jesus.

Out of those girls' Bible classes came a real revival of repentance, joy, brokenness and living for God

This book is not simply recounting her story. It is a challenge to readers to go deeper with God. There are many quotes from Basilea's diaries. Consider this quote from 25 July, 1925: "With all my heart I thank you Lord Jesus, for the amazing privilege of being your child ... I want to spend my life in loving you. And when I am not fully abiding to you, bring me back through humbling experiences.

love reading books and writing book reviews, such as are featured in this issue of the HEART newspaper.

But the most important book we can read is the Bible. I am amazed at the different kinds of Bible that are now available. None of us can have excuses for not possessing a Bible and reading it.

An email came through recently from The Bible Society. They were introducing a dyslexia-friendly Bible, as well as the EasyEnglish Bible, for those learning English, or where English was not their first language. There was also a special youth edition of the Good News Bible, to help young people who struggle with reading, and the Children's Rainbow Bible.

One person, Claire Natt, who had bought the dyslexia-friendly Bible, had written and said:

"I used to put off reading the Bible as I found it so difficult, but the GNB Dyslexia-friendly editions are much easier to read. The smaller books are easy to pick up and understand. It has made such a difference to my faith and I am now enjoying reading the Bible."

Regardless of which version of the Bible you choose the important thing to remember about the Bible is:

"The Word of God is alive and active. sharper than any double-edged sword. It cuts all the way through, to where soul and spirit meet, to where joints and marrow come together. It judges the desires and thoughts of the heart" (Hebrews 4:12, Good News edition).

came to see that sharing in Christ's sufferings (Philippians 3:10, 2 Timothy 2:10, Colossians 1:24) was a key to the heart of God.

When Lorna and I were in Israel in 2000, we were approached by the Evangelical Sisterhood of Mary and asked if we would administrate a 'repentance' conference for them in Jerusalem the following year. As we worked with them for three months, we truly found they live the life that this book talks about. May you similarly be blessed as you read it.

While her years were spent in Christian activity, her longing was to see more of God in her life and those she was in contact with. A friendship with Erika Madauss became a lifetime commitment to working in the Gospel together.

In 1935 the two of them moved back to Darmstadt. Based on the top floor of her parents' house, they started Bible studies for young women. Their foundation text was:

"He would say, 'Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand'!" (Matthew 3:2, NKJV).

The two friends wanted to trust God to provide their every need. They pressed on, even though all their meetings were entirely voluntary and produced no income. They learned to live by faith, even though they also experienced poverty.

Less than a year after starting the meetings, Basilea wrote in her journal on 29 June 1936:

"May the future be as God wills for our ministry. That the ministry will materialise we know. But what crushing blows it takes! Christ must be glorified in every situation May God enable us."

every situation. May God enable us." They pressed on. On the night of 11 September, 1944, RAF bombers dropped their deadly charges over Darmstadt, and left thousands in the town dead or homeless. Basilea and Erika went in search of "their girls".

The work went on and out of those girls' Bible classes came revival. Real revival of repentance, joy, brokenness and living for God. It was the beginning of a movement that in time became 'The Evangelical Sisterhood of Mary'. Basilea, or Mother Basilea as the new

"My vision was a life lived in love with Jesus, leading us to forgive and love one another, and to share his path of poverty and lowliness as disciples of the Cross".

Many times, they had to seek the Lord for the way forward. But the work grew and blossomed. By faith they built a beautiful estate outside Darmstadt called Kanaan, with a chapel where a repentance service takes place daily at 3pm, the hour Christ died.

Mother Basilea experienced trials and tribulations as she sought to follow the Lord's will for her life, but she

THE WONDER OF WATER

Water is essential for life and constantly recycles itself so we won't run out of it

Amazing facts about water

1. Earth is the only planet we know of that has a plentiful supply of liquid water

About 70% of earth's surface is covered in water, which is why it's sometimes called the "blue planet." The Pacific Ocean alone contains one third of earth's water. There is also a lot of frozen water in the polar icecaps and mountain glaciers.

2. We can't survive without it

About 60% of our body weight is water, and our blood is mostly water, too.

Ice and snow at the poles store a large amount of water

Water is made from two gases — hydrogen and oxygen. A water molecule consists of two atoms of hydrogen and one of oxygen. That's why we call it H2O

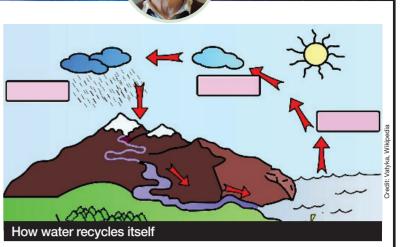

3. Water behaves differently to any other liquid

Most liquids contract when they cool. Water does too until it gets near freezing-point $(0^{\circ}C)$ — then it starts to expand. That's why water pipes sometimes burst in cold weather.

Ice is less dense than liquid water, which means that ice floats on the surface. If water behaved like other liquids then, when it froze, ice would sink to the bottom, while lakes and ponds would turn to solid ice when the temperature drops.

However, ice forms a blanket, keeping the water below much warmer than the air above. Without this insulating layer, many fish and other aquatic creatures would die.

4. Liquid water in the oceans helps moderate the climate

As the seasons change, the temperature changes sea only gradually. Water vapour in the atmosphere provides a "greenhouse effect", keeping our planet warm enough for life to exist. Ice and snow at the poles reflect solar radiation and store a large amount of water.

The total quantity of water remains roughly the same, but is constantly recycled. It falls as rain, hail and snow, and returns to the upper atmosphere by evaporation.

5. The Bible described the water cycle in around 1520 BC¹

"He draws up the drops of water, which distil as rain to the streams. The clouds pour down their moisture and abundant showers fall on mankind" (Job 36: 27-28). "All streams flow into the sea, yet the sea is never full.

To the place the streams come from, there they return again" (Ecclesiastes 1:7).

Surely it's no coincidence we are so well supplied with this unique and vital liquid?

For more information and resources about creation and evolution, visit www.crt.org.uk

There is a thirst — unique to humans — that water cannot quench. It is spiritual thirst, and only Jesus Christ, God's Son, can satisfy that.

Jesus promised "living water" to those who turn to him: "Whoever drinks the water I give them will never thirst. Indeed, the water I give them will become in them a spring of water welling up to eternal life" (John 4: 13).

When we accept God's forgiveness through faith in him, he will satisfy the thirst that water can never quench!

BE A FRIEND OF HEART Invitation from the founding editor:

HEART was started in 2007 in obedience to a vision for a Christian newspaper which would unite believers and give them a voice.

HEART Publications is run completely by faith with a very small, dedicated team of editor, part-time administrators and freelance designer. It is funded by Christians who take out advertisements and donate because they believe in this paper.

Printing and posting the papers cost thousands, and we need to be able to respond to requests for the paper in other areas, so would you pray about becoming a Friend of HEART?

Melanie Symonds, Founding Editor

Partner with HEART's ministry by becoming a Friend of HEART.

Friends donate £5 or more each month by standing order and receive a personal copy of HEART in the post each time it comes out.

PART-TIME ADMINISTRATOR / OFFICE MANAGER WANTED

JOB

For at least three days a week (could suit school hours) at our Worthing office to organise mailings, answer the phone and take responsibility for several areas. We're a very small team, so flexibility is essential and there is the possibility of a fourth part day working from home. You will have relevant office experience, and be very accurate and highly organised. You also need to be servant-hearted, attuned to the paper's vision, have excellent written and spoken English and be able to supply work and pastoral references. Would also suit young person as training can be given. Start as soon as possible.
